KEPT QUIET BY MORPHINE.

Rev. Father McDonald May Ultimately Recover His Senses.

Father Hill, Whom He Assaulted pairiotism to a nation.

Peter Cooper, "Father of the People." During Mass, Attending to Duty.

At St. Peter's Hospital in Brooklyn this morning it was said that Rev. Father Patrick T. McDonald, who cre-Catholic Church at Court and Congress streets, by assaulting his superior, Rev. Father W. J. Hill, during the celebration of 10 o'clock mass, was lying in a semi-conscious state due to hypodermic injections of morphise. The injections were administered by the physicians last night to quiet his delirium.

As soon as he can be kept quiet without the aid of morphine the physicians will make an examination to determine the extent of his insanity.

The only persons allowed to see Father McDonald this morning were his two cousins from New York. Vivar General McNamara, Bishop McDonnell and Father Hill, who is rector of St. Paul's Church.

The house surgeon at St. Peter's Hes. ated a sensation in St. Paul's Roman Gospei and was ascending the platform to make the announcements for the week's devotion. Father McDonald, who had been kneeling before the statue of the Virgin Mary, jumped to his feet, cry-ing:

sterionaid graphed the chalice from the altar as though to use it as a weapon. Some members of the congregation rushed to the altar, and Father McDonald was overpowered and taken from the church raving madly. Later he was removed to St. Peter's Hospital, a Roman Catholic institution, near the church.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Feb. 12. Justice Criss's Court, at Centreville, a town sixteen miles south of this city, was the scene of a bloody fight Saturday after-the witness stand and beat his race to a pulp.

The fight lasted nearly haif an hour, and the court-room was smeared with blood. Knives were drawn and only for the presence of mind of the Justice in swearing in six constables, the court-room would undoubtedly have been the scene of a fatal affray. Carpenter lost his case, but he and All were fined for contempt.

A third man from Tennessee, who came East in search of green-goods, turned up to Jersey City, this morning. He is colored, and his name is Everett Bell. He is tall and ministerial looking, and his home is at 19 Winchester avenue, Membrishis, Tenn. He was not so fortunate as his two white predecessors, Lewis and Vaughn, who were rescued from the clutches of the green-goods men by the Jersey City police. Bell met the police too late. He had been over to New York, had seen the green-goods men and had been swindled. The story he told the police was this:

Bell did not know he had been robbed until he reached Jersey City. He said the greengoods men had escorted him on board a New Jersey Central ferry-boat and had bid him good-by. As soon as he discovered he had been robbed, he made the complaint to the police.

The Jersey City police told Bell they could do nothing for him, as the robbery took place in New York. He was then referred to the Church street police station in New York City.

In this way he raised from $200 to $400 on each lot and secured thousands of dollars from eager capitalists, who were after big interest. Holders of some of the notes and mortgages recently wrote to a leading law firm to have them commence foreclosure proceedings, and an investigation revealed the fact that the lots are not worth what it would cost to secure them by a foreclosure.

The parties then ordered the lawyers to carry the matter before the Grand Jury, and evidence is being prepared to do this.

Twenty-second street station, and Doorman Frank McNuity, and aroused the sleeping policemen resting in the dormitory on the floor above. The cries came from the male lodgers room in the rear of the station-house. Policeman Schoell, who was on house post, heard the shouts on the street and rushed around to locate the noise.

He soon found that it came from the lodgers in the station-house, and accompanied by the sergeant and doorman, sprang in among the riotous lodgers, who were punching and clawing at each other. The fight arose among three of them as to who should have the only spare plank to sleep on. Others joined in the fight, and when the policemen appeared on the scene eleven of them were engaged in the fight.

They were all arrested and locked up in separate cells, and this morning six to the Yorkville Police Court. They were committed to the island for five days each.

The priest was strapped to a cot in one of the private rooms of the hospital, and during the hight was guarded by Policeman Reynolds.

Vicar-General McNamara said to-day that while Father McDonald's condition was very serious, he did not think the case was incurable. As soon as possible the demented priest will be removed to a private institution.

Father Hill was about the rectory this morning, and celebrated early mass at the church. Several slight abrasions on his face showed where Father McDonald had struck him twice yesterday.
